Pluto TV is a free streaming service owned by ViacomCBS, the parent company of several popular film companies and TV production networks. The service offers content from networks such as Comedy Central, Nickelodeon and MTV via live video streaming channels and on-demand functionality. In May 2020, this collection was expanded to include popular AMC series such as The Walking Dead. It is offered without a monthly subscription fee. Instead, Pluto TV makes money from advertising it is able to sell during these streaming broadcasts. Is it possible to rely on Pluto TV to be a realistic replacement for subscription live TV services like YouTube TV, Hulu Live or Sling TV? That's what we set out to find out in this Team Clark review. Table of Contents For this review, I downloaded the Pluto TV app on my Roku, Android, and iOS devices to compare functionality and performance. I have also used Pluto TV web player which is available through the official website without signing up. This review is one of many we conducted as part of our free streaming TV series. You can learn more about our strategies for getting free streaming TV here: What is Pluto TV? Pluto TV is a free live-stream TV and on-demand video service from ViacomCBS. It has more than 250 unique live channels that stream content - with commercial breaks - free of charge to the consumer. There are also on-demand choices. Content providers range from Viacom properties like MTV, Nickelodeon and Comedy Central to major news platforms like NBC, CBS and CNN. Pluto TV is available via mobile, streaming and web applications without the requirement for viewers to sign up to view the content. The registration process is optional There is no need for credit card information with Pluto TV. In fact, the service does not require you to provide any personal information whatsoever to enjoy the content. Whether you're using an app or the web-based player, Pluto TV content starts streaming without asking you about even as much as an email address. That said, Pluto TV provides an incentive to plant some roots and stay for a while. With a sign-up process that takes less than 30 seconds, Pluto TV promises that you can unlock additional content like CBSN, Cops on Spike, Pluto TV 007 and MTV on Pluto TV. Sign-up also allows you to set up favorite channels and resume playing on-demand content from another device. Since much of the Pluto TV platform is based on easily searchable live streams, this is more of a luxury than a necessity. Pluto TV has phone and tablet apps that can be downloaded from the Google Play Store (for Android devices), the Apple App Store (for iOS devices) and via Amazon. For TV streaming purposes, Pluto TV is compatible with the following devices: Apple TV Android TV Roku Amazon Fire TV Google Chromecast Sony Smart TV Samsung Smart TV Vizio Smart TV Pluto TV also has a streaming web player that is available via Mac and laptops or desktops. Content available to stream on Pluto TV With more than 250 free live streaming TV channels, Pluto TV offers a wide range of content. It also has on-demand movies and TV shows available for streaming. To facilitate understanding of the menu of options, we've divided some of the more popular offerings by genre: News Channels NBC News CBSN CBSN CNN Best of The Today Show Bloomberg Television Cheddar Newsmax TV Top Stories by Newsy Court TV WeatherNation With brands like CBSN, you are able to access the full 24-hour news channel. Others, like CNN, offer recorded content that can be hours or even days old. Rather than full runs of news programming, networks choosing to use the CNN model on this platform show shorter, condensed clips of newscasts or comments. Fox Sports NFL Channel Major League Soccer Stadium RedBull TV It's important to note that you won't find much in the way of live sporting events on Pluto TV. Almost all sports channels are of the highlight or analysis variety. Major live sporting events - like those that air on ESPN - are not available on this platform and will almost always require a subscription service. Entertainment Channels Comedy Central (Comedy Central-Pluto TV and Comedy Central Stand Up) MTV (MTV-Pluto TV, MTV Dating and MTV Teen) Nickelodeon (Nick-Pluto TV and Nick Jr.-Pluto TV) VH1 (VH1-I Love Reality and VH1-Hip Hop Family) Entertainment Tonight (ET Live) Spike TV (Spike-Pluto TV and Spike Outdoors) CMT (CMT-Pluto TV) BET (BET-Pluto TV and BET Her) TV Land (TV Land-Sitcoms) AMC (The Dead Walking , Broekmire) These are recognizable names in the traditional cable TV game, but it's important to note that you don't get the actual full channel for Comedy Central or Nickelodeon. Instead, you're seeing a streaming channel that contains some of the content you know from those platforms. For example, the Comedy Central-Pluto TV channel can air full episodes of current shows like Tosh.0, which is a few years old. You must have access to the full channels via subscription elsewhere if you want to stream new episodes. In May 2020, Pluto TV also added the first five seasons of the popular AMC series The Walking Dead as part of a new partnership. Popular On-Demand movies In addition to the live streaming channels, Pluto TV also offers on-demand streaming options. These are available at your leisure and do not need to be seen live. You'll notice some pretty recognizable mainstream movie titles that include big stars like Will Smith and Arnold Schwarzenegger. But you'll probably also notice that the release dates on most movies in the content library are years or even decades old. Here are some examples: The Big Short The Legend of Bagger Vance Basic Instinct King of New York The Terminator American Beauty The Weatherman World Trade Center Black Snake Moan The Dead Zone Popular On-Demand TV Shows If You're into the Reality Series That several big names that are available for streaming on this platform. Here are a few of the more recognizable TV series available in the Pluto On-Demand TV collection: Duck Dynasty Ice Road Truckers Storage Wars Cold Case Files Mountain Men Roseanne 3rd Rock from Sun Dog Bounty Hunter American Pickers Grounded for Life Pluto TV is not in the original content business, although the way some of the content presented on the platform seems unique. Instead of making its own original content, Pluto TV licenses content from more than 75 providers. This content is presented on customized channels that create an original experience on Pluto TV. User experience If you're afraid you might miss the sensation of cable TV interface, I have some good news: Pluto TV mimics this experience with menus and channel surfing capabilities that will remind you of satellite or cable. How bad are the ads? Watching the live channels on Pluto TV will be very similar to an over-the-air TV channel in terms of the number and duration of commercial breaks. I sat down to watch a few episodes of live streaming content on one of the leading channels on Pluto TV and came away with the following data on commercial and commercial breaks: For a typical 30-minute streaming time slot, you can expect to have about four commercial breaks. During these breaks, you're likely to see as many as six commercials ranging from 20 to 30 seconds each. Pluto TV doesn't have a big problem with repetitive advertisements, but be ready to watch quite a few cross-promotional ads for content that is available on other Pluto TV channels. Sometimes the commercial breaks would end with 5-10 seconds of a screen that says We'll be back - but not always. I also mapped out some advertisements from their on-demand section. An episode of Roseanne had a 26:37 runtime, which is more than three minutes less than you'd expect during a typical 30-minute time slot on traditional TELEVISION. There were four commercial breaks, but they each had only three commercials and lasted only 1:15 for a total of five minutes worth of advertisements. The User Interface user interface is actually quite straightforward. It felt familiar even though I had never used it before this review. Let's look at the mobile experience first. You'll notice that the live channels can be viewed while you search for content in the guide. You can expand to a full-screen view by clicking on the video or simply by turning the phone from the vertical to the horizontal position. As you'll notice at the bottom of the screen, you can switch from live TV to on-demand by clicking on the Movies & Shows tab. One of the options I really liked was the ability to sort the live channels by genre. As you will notice on the screenshot below, the default channel guide viewing option was for All Channels. If you click on this box, you are able to unlock the ability to sort channels by topic. I found it interesting (you may find it useful or maybe annoying) that the phone app pretty regularly sent me push notifications when there was content. It assumed I might have an interest in viewing. Here's an example of what looked like: Finally, I also found the web version of the product pretty easy to navigate. It was similar enough to the mobile app that I didn't get lost by switching between the two. Tips for enjoying Pluto TV Has any of the available content caught your attention? If so, here are some tips to enjoy it on Pluto TV: Set It and Forget It: Like a TV experience from yesteryear, you won't have any DVR functionality on live streams for Pluto TV. So when you decide on a channel with content you want to watch for the next 30 or 60-minute block, you might as well put the remote away and get comfortable. There is no pause or rewind. Opt-in to the user account: I'm not one to tell you to sign up for something you're not required to sign up for, but it's worth it if you want to use Pluto TV as your main source of streaming entertainment. Being able to set favorites to channels and order them as you wish is an easy time-saving win if you need to spend hours on the platform. Plus, you get access to some content that you wouldn't otherwise. Final thoughts on Pluto TV Still trying to determine whether to add Pluto TV to your streaming portfolio? Here are some pros and cons to think about: Pros Cons FOR FREE! Very few brand new episodes of popular content Cable-like experience with recognizable brands and content Truncated versions of major TV channels Solid titles in the on-demand movie and TV show section No DVR functionality on live streams Bottom Line: If you have decided that you will stop paying for cable TV and subscription streaming services, I think Pluto TV needs serious consideration as part of your free streaming content mix. There is a strong selection of cable-worthy content on this platform, and the barrier to giving it a test run is extremely low. Try it! Do you have experience watching the Pluto TV streaming service?
